

Washington, D.C. - U.S. Rep. David Price was the guest on the latest edition of WRAL's Headline Saturday, the CBS affiliate's political affairs show. Along with The News & Observer's executive editor John Drescher and political reporter/columnist Rob Christensen, he discussed proposals in Congress to reform the health insurance system. The program was hosted by WRAL anchor David Crabtree.

Video of the program can be found on the station's website at http://www.wral.com/news/local/asset\_gallery/1283597/

Price has held dozens of meetings on health insurance reform over the last few months, including a public town hall meeting in Durham last night, which attracted over a thousand participants. He will continue to hold discussions with his constituents as the House debates health insurance reform, including by holding two telephone town hall meetings over the next month. Information on these and other events will be posted here on the website.
